

My name is Melanie McDaniels and I work part time as an instructor for the Park City Ski & Snowboard School. I came to Park City in 2012 after a short break in 2011 when I took an opportunity to work in Antarctica helping the National Science Foundation as support staff for McMurdo Station. Prior to that I worked as an instructor at the Steamboat Ski School beginning in 2007. My full-time job has taken me around the United States as a wildland firefighter, where I have worked on crews, engines, helicopters and most recently in our wildland fire dispatch center where I am on the management team.

In my spare time, I like to be outside as much as possible. You may catch me on a mountain bike ride or trail run in Park City, hiking with my dog Captain Pickles or spending time with friends and family.

From 2014-2022 I was a part of the leadership team at Park City, where I served in roles as a Children's Product Manager, adult operational supervisor and children's operational supervisor. Prior to that I was an instructor.

I have been an Intermountain member since 2012 and am a concurrent member in the Rocky Mountain Division.

My current certifications are SB Level 2 and CS2 and USSA Level 100. I will be attempting my Alpine Level 1 in the near future.

I believe in giving back, being a part of the bigger picture and providing everyone with authentic experiences and meaningful connection. I want to help the Intermountain Division recruit new members, engage current members and I am excited about the opportunity to be a conduit for members to the board and want to thank you for your consideration.
